It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to the second issue of the Kauvery Journal of Laboratory Medicine.

This issue is particularly special as it brings together academic contributions from Kauvery units across Chennai, Salem and Trichy, reflecting the growing spirit of collaboration and knowledge sharing within our organization.

The articles cover a diverse range of topics—from challenging infectious diseases and unusual radiological presentations to hematopathology, immunohistochemistry and molecular diagnostics. Together, they highlight the increasingly important role of the laboratory in accurate diagnosis, clinical decision-making and patient care.

This journal is intended not merely as a platform for publication, but as a space where our cases, experiences, audits and innovations can be shared and transformed into collective learning.

I sincerely thank all the authors, reviewers and contributors who have made this issue possible. I encourage colleagues from all Kauvery units to continue sharing their clinical experiences, research and quality initiatives.

Let us continue to learn, collaborate and build a strong academic culture across Kauvery.
